

CHAPTER 22.

AN ACT FOR REVIVING AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT TO PREVENT THE SELLING OF GOODS AT PUBLIC VENDUE."

WHEREAS many advantages have arisen from an act made in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, intitled "An Act to prevent the selling of goods at public vendue," —

Preamble.
1777-78, chap. 2.

Be it therefore enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

[SECT. 1.] That the before-mentioned act, now expired, be revived and continued, with all and every clause, matter and thing therein respectively contained; and shall, from and after the fourteenth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight, be in force until[1] the fourteenth day of September next, excepting that clause which permits the sale of Continental stores, at vendues, by the commissary-general or his order, in consequence of resolutions of Congress.

Provided, nevertheless, —

[SECT. 2.] That this act shall not extend to prohibit the public sale of goods, in the hands of the committee of sequestration, already ordered by this court. [Passed March 12, 1778.]

CHAPTER 23.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE PLANTATION CALLED COXHALL,
IN THE COUNTY OF YORK, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF COX-HALL.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of the plantation called Coxhall, in the county of York, have represented to this court, that the erecting said plantation into a town will greatly contribute to its settlement, and remedy many difficulties and inconveniences they now labour under; therefore, —

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

[SECT. 1.] That the said plantation, bounded as follows; viz., beginning on the west of Mousom River, a little below the great falls there, at a pitch-pine stump; from thence, crossing said river, on a north-easterly point of compass, and running, by the towns of Wells and Arundel[1], six miles (viz., until it comes within four miles of Saco River). to an Oak Island, so called; thence, from said Arundel line, on a north-westerly course, continuing at the distance of four miles from said Saco River and parallel thereto, back into the country, six miles and an hundred and twenty rods, to a hemlock-tree marked on four sides, about forty rods to the northward of a pond called Swan Pond; from thence, across said pond, excluding about Boundary lines.
